Pacifica Network Welcomes Beware the Radio
“Radio,” says Andrew Brain, founder and manager of English Internet station Beware! The Radio, “is strange. It straddles the generations. It can be all things to all people. It’s a legacy media, but it’s consumed on these modern formats by people all over the place.”

A life-long radio enthusiast, Brain, in 2021, set out to create a station that might match the medium’s promise. Today, that station, says Brain, is “quite a grab bag,” filled with

Sprouts Special: Safer Than Childbirth

Author Tamara Dean presents a live action version of her article about Nancy Ann Harris, a woman who "lived and died of an abortion" in the mid-1800s, just when abortion was outlawed for the first time in the United States.

Tamara describes how women carried out abortions when it was commonplace in earlier times, before it was outlawed. She traces the history of laws about abortion and the origins of the anti-abortion efforts in the US.
